LT. ROBERT NICHOLS SPEAKS ON ENGLAND'S SOLDIER POETS

Reads From Works of Friends

As a representative of the young English poets who have fallen in battle, Lieut. Robert Nichols, of the Royal Field Artillery, gave a lecture-reading on British War Poetry Friday evening in Taylor under the auspices of the English Club. Describing himself as "slightly damaged" through his fighting with the Hun, and quite unused to lecturing, Mr. Nichols kept his audience under intense emotional strain for nearly two hours as he read informally from the works of three of his personal friends, Charles Sorley, who was killed in action in May, 1915; Robert Graves, who has been severely wounded; and Siegfried Sassoon, who has fought three times in France and once in Palestine. Mr. Nichols has had severe shell shock, and was obliged to remain seated throughout most of his address.

Stresses War Poets' Love of Action

To emphasize the directness and love of action of the young War Poets, Mr. Nichols described in contrast the inertia of the poets of the '90's, "who never played football or rode or swam, but preferred to lie on a sofa and think about it." The glory of the '90's was that they rebelled against Victorian sentimentality and Victorian bad technique, that they saw that without truth there could be no poetry; their weakness, that they prided themselves on their exclusiveness and used up their courage in such caprices as wearing lilies in their buttonholes.

Through a long stretch of "lean years," marked by "moral writers" such as Shaw, Barker, Wells and Galsworthy, literature finally got back, by way of the poetical dramas of Masfield, to real art.

The most characteristic emotion of the immediately pre-war period in England was indignation, Mr. Nichols declared. When the war came, it provided something everyone could be horribly indignant at. In so far it was a relief.

Sorley a Poetic Dramatist

Charles Sorley, the first of the "young Elizabethans" whom Mr. Nichols described, gives splendid expression to this fighting mood. During his years at Marlborough he fought the whole school over his successive "admiration" for Masfield, Hardy and Goethe. Sorley has been called by Masfield "the greatest literary loss England has sustained in the war." Another English critic prophesied that had he lived he would have been the greatest dramatist since Shakespeare.

"Like Emily Brontë," Mr. Nichols commented, "he is almost without adjectives." His greatest poem, in Mr. Nichols' judgment, is "Into Action."

Mr. Nichols read "Stones," "Lost," showing his love for the rain and the wind, and the "Song to Marching Men":

"All the hills and vales along
Earth is bursting into song,
And the singers are the chaps
Who are going to die perhaps.
O sing, marching men,
Till the valleys ring again.

VARSITY GAINS 6-3 VICTORY OVER ALL-PHILADELPHIA

Four Goals by G. Hearne '19 Seal Visitors' Doom

For the third year in succession Varsity has won from All-Philadelphia. In a hotly contested and evenly matched game last Saturday the college team, every member but one playing, defeated their ancient foe, with six goals to their three.

The play was full of vim, particularly in the second half. A noticeable absence of long dribbles by the Varsity wings bore witness to the efficiency of the opposing halfbacks. The main stars of the game were G. Hearne '19 and B. Weaver '20 for Varsity, and the Misses McLean, MacMahon, and Townsend for All-Philadelphia.

First Half, 5-2

The first goal was made, after about five minutes of indecisive fighting, by the All-Philadelphia team in a sharp scrap at the goal. A retaliatory tally for Varsity, made by G. Hearne '19, followed, and then came a period of scrapping, in which Miss McLean, E. Biddle '19, and Miss MacMahon took most active part. Two more goals were made by G. Hearne '19 from some distance, and one by M. Tyler '19, before Captain Townsend of All-Philadelphia took the ball down for a second score against Varsity. Just before half time was called D. Rogers '20 dribbled down the field, and G. Hearne '19 shot another long goal at a sharp angle.

Second Half, 6-3

The second half showed more teamwork on Varsity's forward line, and a correspondingly stronger All-Philadelphia

RECORD OF VICTORY UNBROKEN

Varsity's victorious record for this season is unbroken, even by a tie. Five games have been played, against Philadelphia Cricket Club, the Alumnae, Lansdowne, Germantown, and All-Philadelphia. One or two games which were postponed on account of the quarantine may be played after Thanksgiving.

defense. As in the first half the visitors drew first blood, this time with a goal made by Miss Townsend across a circle swept clear of defense by a clever decoy play in the right wing. The remainder of the game was bitterly fought, but uneventful except for a final goal by D. Rogers '20. During most of the second half the home halfbacks played on the defensive.

Shows College How to "Get Together"

A tall swinging figure in lieutenant's khaki, towering high above a mob of about three hundred students, and leading with voice, arms, and entire personality in the spirited singing of the favorite songs of the army: this was Chaplain Laurens Seelye a few minutes after the conclusion of last Sunday

Busts in Taylor Come to Life for '19's Reception to Freshmen

Cornelia Skinner Recites

The long-abused Greeks who adorn the corridors of Taylor came into their own last Saturday evening, forming an original and well-executed background to the familiar theme of the Bryn Mawr super-women, presented by 1919 in their reception to the Freshmen.

COLLEGE RECEIVES $500,000 LEGACY FROM MRS. SAGE

Will Enable Bryn Mawr to Join Professors' Pension Plan

Margaret Olivia Sage, who died on November 4th in her ninety-first year, left Bryn Mawr College one fifty-second share of her residuary estate, which is estimated by the newspapers as between $700,000 and $800,000, but by Mrs. Sage's executor, Mr. Robert W. de Forest, as about $500,000, in a telegram sent to President Thomas. Other shares go to foreign and home missions, aid, tract and Bible societies, hospitals, museums, libraries, Hampton, Tuskegee, and fourteen other colleges in addition to Bryn Mawr—Troy Polytechnic, Union, Hamilton, New York University, Syracuse, Yale, Amherst, Williams, Dartmouth, Princeton, and four women's colleges, Vassar, Wellesley, Smith and Barnard.

All these bequests are free from any restriction except the request that they shall be used in some way that shall commemorate the name of her husband, Russell Sage, who left her this great fortune to dispose of. These splendid charitable and educational gifts, amounting roughly to $40,000,000, place Mrs. Sage next to John D. Rockefeller and Andrew Carnegie among American benefactors. It is generally thought that the Trustees will add this legacy to the general endowment funds of the college, and it is hoped that the income of about $20,000 of the legacy will be set aside to enable the college to join in the new professors' pension plan of the Carnegie Foundation.

It is interesting to recall that during her husband's lifetime Mrs. Sage attended commencement at Bryn Mawr and took such a fancy to President Thomas's garden party hat that she ordered an exact duplicate and wore it for several years, as Mr. Sage gave her a very small dress allowance. Soon after his death she gave President Thomas $20,000 for suffrage work, and let her present the terrible financial straits of the five women's colleges—Mount Holyoke, Vassar, Wellesley, Smith and Bryn Mawr. After this interview President Thomas sent Mrs. Sage a carefully written statement of what an additional endowment of $1,000,000 apiece given to these five colleges would mean for women's education. This statement was never acknowledged and President Thomas says that she feared that she had displeased Mrs. Sage and probably damaged Bryn Mawr's chance of being remembered in her will. Happily this proves not to have been the case; and it may be that President Thomas' presentation of the needs of the women's colleges influenced Mrs. Sage to include four of the five colleges among her residuary legatees. At the time that Mrs. Sage's will was made a fifty-second share would have amounted to about $1,000,000 for each college, but gifts of principal during her lifetime considerably reduced the residuary estate. Bryn Mawr is deeply grateful to Mrs. Sage for its legacy and will always revere her memory.

Thanksgiving Day will mean more to us tomorrow than turkey and cranberry sauce; it will have in it the true spirit of thankfulness which the Pilgrims first felt when they met to give thanks to God. The nation's thanksgiving will rise to God for France and the spirit of France, for England and her grit, Italy and her fire, Belgium and her courage—for America that she has won the right to share in their rejoicing.

Immediately after conscription was abolished 50 of the 110 who had signed up for work at the Community Center withdrew their names. This fact does not seem to bear out the argument of those who objected to conscription on the ground that public opinion could accomplish the work just as well.

Doubtless the majority have found that four hours of war work a week is too much. On the other hand, there is not a person in college who could not give at least one hour.

We suggest that each individual designate on her conscription card the amount of time she is willing to volunteer and then register her work each week as before so that accurate tally can be kept of the work done. By this means the war service output of the college, which has never been so great as this fall, might be maintained and an even distribution of work effected.

COLLEGE HEARS CHAPLAIN

"On the roulette wheel of nations Germany picked her own color, spun and lost," Chaplain Laurens Seelye, of the U. S. Army, declared in his sermon Sunday night in chapel. Germany reckoning that America was too interested in self-seeking commerce to fight, failed to realize her latent power of self-giving. This selfishness, formed into personal spiritual convictions, is the one essential.

"Nothing is inconsistent with religion except what is vile," Chaplain Seelye stressed. Nowadays it is not incongruous at a camp sing to follow "Rock of Ages" with "Good Night, Ladies"—an illustration of the practical faith that God is all and in all. What matters is what we think of God, what, too, the blaspheming Gott-mitt-uns Junkers thought of God when they persecuted the Armenians. Our conception of Christianity is important.

"Into our Christianity," concluded Chaplain Seelye, "must be builded a faith in broad internationalism." The question is not whether America has been profoundly stirred. It asks, "Is anything being securely rebuilt in America? Have we merely passed through a spasm of altruism, or will a new world be formed in the spirit of God?"

FIVE PASS DEFERRED GERMAN WRITTEN WHILE FOUR FAIL

In contrast to the results of the French written taken by students who had had the influenza, the emergency German written marks show that a higher number of students passed than failed. Out of the nine who took the examination, five passed, and four failed.

The grades are: Passed, A. Ehlers, T. Haynes, E. Marquand, M. Martin, H. Spalding; failed, M. Broomfield, E. Cooper, H. Reid, D. Walton.

VOLUNTARY TESTS TO BE SET FOR INFORMATION AND LITERATURE

A voluntary general information test with the same prizes as those awarded by President Thomas last year, will be given after Christmas. The committee is: Professor Donnelly, chairman, Professor Fenwick, and Professor Frank.

Literature examination of one hour, on the same principle as the general information test, are also to be given this year, probably directly after the Easter vacation. Prizes are offered by President Thomas.

The examination is to be a test of general knowledge of the literature of the world, and no particular preparation for it is specified. A test of the kind was given here several years ago, modelled on an examination given at Oxford.

The committee is: Prof. G. G. King, chairman, Professor Wright, and Professor Chew.

HONOR IS THEME OF STRONG VESPER TALK BY M. THURMAN

In one of the most forceful vesper talks heard here for many months, M. L. Thurman '19, Senior president, attacked the low standards of personal honor prevalent at college in petty matters.

Although half-way measures in doing exercise or required reading, afterward signed for, might not be unanimously condemned in the world at large, she said, technical justification of them here to ourselves is impossible. The out-and-out liar she placed on a higher plane than the petty offender in matters of honor, in that he acknowledged his offense to himself.

A higher ethical standard throughout the community she demanded as a necessity for the higher development of individual character, and for the justification of confidence in the college as a whole.

WAR-SAVING STAMPS FOR 1919 TO BE BLUE

A new series of War-Saving Certificates and Stamps will be placed on sale early in 1919, according to the Secretary of the Treasury. It will have a maturity date of January 1, 1924, and in practically all respects will be issued on the same terms and in the same manner as the present series.

A new $5.00 War-Saving Stamp, blue in color, bearing the head of Benjamin Franklin, the apostle of saving, and a former Postmaster General, is in preparation.

The same Thrift Stamps and Thrift Cards now in use will be continued in 1919 and will be exchangeable into the new Series of 1919 War-Savings Stamps.

Chaplain Follows Service with "Sing"

(Continued from page 1.) night's chapel, which he himself had conducted. Holding his audience from the very first minute, when he jumped up on the big gym table with a shouted "Now all together, boys—what'll we sing?" Chaplain Seelye led them with an unbounded vim which won him immediate popularity with all present.

Beginning with "America" and "The Long, Long Trail," and continuing through "Old Black Joe," "Over There," and other similar gems, old and new, to the "Marseillaise," "Battle Hymn of the Republic," and "The Star Spangled Banner," the singing showed never a trace of weakness. The enthusiasm and well-tried methods of the leader inspired everyone present with a new sort of spontaneity.

DR. HOPPIN DISCUSSES TREATMENT OF GERMANY

Attacks Policy of "Forgive and Forget"

That Germany is in the position of a condemned criminal whom we must put on her feet again in order that she may pay for what she has done was the point developed by Dr. Hoppin, Professor of Archaeology, in a brief talk last Wednesday morning in chapel.

"It would be impossible, as well as inexpedient," declared Dr. Hoppin, "to eradicate Germany from the map, for nationality cannot be killed. It would be equally impossible to receive her again into the family of nations as if nothing had happened. We must build Germany up to the point where she can begin to pay for her sins, and then force her to spend the next fifty years making amends."

CUT STATISTICS FOR OCTOBER

232 Students Register No Cuts

2530 cuts were registered by the Undergraduates during October, according to the statistics drawn up by the office. This unusually high number was due to the influenza epidemic, 104 of the 209 students cutting registering under the excused heading.

The office records and those drawn up from cut cards by the Cut Committee of the Undergraduate Association follow:

	Excused	Unexcused	Total
Office Record
No. of students cutting.	104	135	209

Of the total of 3697 cuts on the Undergraduate record, 3509 were due to infirmity, 65 to half-infirmity, and 123 were unexcused. Nine of the latter were starred as legitimate cuts.

The office recorded 45 unexcused cuts not registered by the Undergraduates, while the Undergraduate statistics show 39 not on the office lists.

WOULD HAVE SUBSTITUTE FOR CONSCRIPTION

Dean Taft Advises That War Work Should Be Equalized

War work, although conscripted work is being given up, should still be systematized, was the opinion expressed by Dean Taft last Thursday morning in chapel.

"I think the undergraduates have been wise in giving up conscription because it will be impossible to have the enthusiasm necessary to carry it through without the necessity of winning the war," Dean Taft said. "Undoubtedly there were mistakes in the conscription measures—too much work was required every week, making too many activities every day in the week. Still, conscription was necessary in view of conditions at the time it was adopted, because many students were not doing their part and the work was falling on a few. A great many had signed up for work and were not doing the work they had pledged."

"The work is still to be done. It has proved that the average person ought not to undertake as much as four hours a week. Still, everyone should take some part and should do the work regularly and conscientiously. I hope the college will undertake to meet this need."

WAR CHEST PLEDGES TOTAL $1,906.80

Future Doctors Attend Operation

Eleven members of the Medical Society went to the clinic of the Lankenau Hospital last Saturday afternoon to see Dr. Deaver operate. The operation was the removal of a sensory nerve ganglion from the left side of the brain. This was a very serious case and the operation lasted about an hour and a half.

All the other operations were abdominal and not so serious, although in one case the patient resisted the anesthetic and was so unrelaxed that complications set in.

SOLDIERS FACING COLD WINTER NEED KNITTED GARMENTS

The soldiers advancing upon the Rhine will need warmer garments than they have because of the increased altitude, says an appeal for more knitted garments, printed last week in the New York Times. The author of the appeal is Mrs. Herbert Satterlee, chairman of the Comforts Committee of the Navy League.

"Just because the actual fighting in this war is over most women seem to think all troubles are ended for our boys," she says. "The wind and sleet will be just as bitter and hard on all our naval vessels on the seas this winter and there are more of them than last year. Today we had to refuse a request for 1000 sets of knitted comforts because we had none in stock. . . . Now is the time for all of us to be knitters and not quitters."

The college's output of woollen socks can be increased many times if more volunteers can be found to learn the use of the knitting machines in the Pem East music room, according to D. Walton, who is in charge.

GREEN BANNER REMAINS ON GYM

1919 Wins Final Game 9-0 From 1922

A goal for every member of the forward line started the Seniors in the first half on their way to a 9-0 victory over 1922 in the final hockey game of the season on Monday. From the beginning there was no hope for the Freshmen. During the whole game the Senior goal was not threatened more than five times.

Since the first game of the finals last Tuesday the Senior defense had stiffened perceptibly, and the strength of their forward line had not diminished. M. Tyler '19, captain of Varsity and manager of the Senior team, played perhaps the prettiest game on the field, dribbling fast and shooting three goals, but the rest of the forward line was not far behind her. In the defense M. L. Thurman, E. Lanier and A. Landon stood out most prominently. G. Hearne shot two brilliant goals, one of them after a long run up the field.

For 1922 F. Robbins dribbled speedily, and M. Krech did good aggressive and defensive work at left half. G. Rhoads, in goal, resisted many attacks, but was, in the end, unable to withstand the relentless green onslaught.

Deadlock on Second

In a hard fought and exciting game, the Junior second team managed to hold the Sophomores down to a tie in the second game of the finals last Friday afternoon. The first game was won by 1921.

E. Stevens, who made 1920's only goal soon after the whistle blew, V. Park '20 and T. James '20 played especially well, but were poorly backed up. The Sophomores made one goal in the second half, but missed many chances for a second by poor shooting. A moment before time the red, evading 1920's fullbacks, had a free shot, but E. Williams, '20's goal, hit the ball out just before it went over the line. The game ended with the score 1-1.

Swift in retaliation for their defeat of last week 1920's second team came back with a snap in the third game of the finals, and defeated 1921 4-2 on Monday. The play, although a bit one-sided, was speedy and showed good teamwork.

As in the previous games of the series V. Park and T. James starred in '20's forward line. M. Littell and H. Kingsbury formed the backbone of the blue defense.

Clever passing by C. Mottu and F. Billstein in the forward line was '21's best feature.

'19 Downs '21, 3-2

1919 wrested the first game of the third team finals from 1920 by a close 3-2 score last Thursday. The playing was determined and good for both sides, and not until the final whistle blew was the outcome certain.

1919 won only by keeping always on the offensive, since the opposing forward line was strong enough to ruin their defense once it got the ball. The green halves fought hard to block the shots of E. H. Mills and W. Worcester, the strong red defenders.

LAST OF PRELIMINARIES ON THIRD WON BY 1919 AND 1921

1919 vs. 1920, 3-0

Playing one short on their forward line 1920 lost the third game of the third team preliminaries to 1919 last Wednesday by a score of 3-0. The blue team fought hard, but in spite of the vigorous attempts of G. Hess '20 to cover both center-forward and right-inside they could not disguise this weakness from the opposing halves.

The Senior fullbacks were strong in repelling every attack on their circle. F. Howell '19 played an excellent game offensively, and when necessary defensively.

Taussig, made possible three goals, one by C. Taussig and two by M. Butler. 1921 put up a good fight, with stiff defense by E. Godwin, center half.

FRESHMEN PLAN TO DISTRIBUTE OFFICES EVENLY

Arrange System of Points to Prevent Overwork of Individuals

The overburdening of individual students with offices and committee work is being combatted by 1922 with a system of points inaugurated last week.

Every class or college office, as well as membership on any committee, will count as a certain number of points, and an amendment has been added to the class constitution to the effect that no member of the class may hold offices the sum of whose points amount to more than a fixed number, to be decided upon later.

GERMANTOWN BOWS TO VARSITY, 4-3

Three Alumnæ on Visiting Team

With both teams held down to slow playing by the quarter inch of mud on the field, Varsity defeated the Germantown Cricket Club 4-2 last Wednesday. Three alumnæ appeared in the Germantown line-up, A. Hawkins '07 as goal, M. Kirk '10 as center forward, and M. Bacon '18, last year's Varsity captain, as right fullback.

Hard hitting and finished teamwork, particularly on the forward line, characterized the playing of the Germantown eleven. The Varsity defense was up to form, but the forward line showed streaks of weakness, carrying the ball to the visitors' circle only to lose it by wild shooting.

M. Kirk '10 scored the first goal of the game for Germantown. Two for Varsity followed, by M. Tyler '19 and D. Rogers '20. After some good stickwork by G. Rhoads '22, Varsity goal, Miss Mason of Germantown tied the score for the first half with a smashing cross-shot far out to the right.

In the second half Germantown settled down to a defensive game, broken only by some swift spurts by Miss Condon at right wing. In spite of repeated opportunities to shoot, Varsity pierced the Germantown blockade only twice, held at bay largely by the brilliant work of A. Hawkins '07 at goal. The first point of the half was made by D. Rogers '20, Varsity center forward. The scoring ended with the prettiest play of the game, when M. Tyler '19 swept the ball through the Germantown fullback and shot it with a clean pass to M. Tyler '22, who crashed it in to make a total of 4-2.

WINTER EXERCISE SCHEDULE HAS DRASTIC REQUIREMENTS

Four Periods of Drill Necessary

After Thanksgiving four of the five periods of exercise required weekly of each student will have to be taken in organized drills of some sort. Two of these must be company and college drills on the hockey fields, and the other two indoor drills, either apparatus, fencing, folk-dancing, or aesthetic dancing.

During the swimming and water-polo seasons two periods weekly of either of these sports may be substituted for drill periods.

The time schedule for the different drills is as follows:

Outdoor Drills

College Drill—Tuesday, 4.15.
Company Drills—Rockefeller and Pembroke West, Monday, 4.15; Merion and Pembroke East, Wednesday, 4.15.
Radnor and Denbigh—Thursday, 4.15.

Indoor Drills

Apparatus—Time to be announced later.

Fencing—Tuesday, 4.15, and Friday, 5.25.

Folk-dancing—Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday, 4.45.

Æsthetic Dancing—Tuesday and Thursday, 5.25.

In the apparatus classes the Sophomores and Freshmen, practising together, will prepare for that part of their annual Gymnasium Meet. The drill proper for the Meet will be prepared in the outdoor drills.

TO REVIVE CONSUMERS' LEAGUE

Vote to Establish Chapter at Bryn Mawr
A chapter of the Consumers' League is to be re-established at Bryn Mawr, if President Thomas's approval can be secured, according to a vote taken at a meeting of the Undergraduate Association last week. A speaker on the subject will be secured after Thanksgiving, and later a mass meeting will be held for the election of officers.

The old Consumers' League Chapter was abolished in 1912. The object of the League is to better the condition of women and children employed in factories.

RED CROSS LETTER SAYS

"CARRY ON!"

A letter from the American Red Cross War Council, urging continuance of Red Cross work, has been received by L. Kellogg, chairman of the college Red Cross Committee. "It is most important, in the face of the rejection of conscription," says Miss Kellogg, "that the college should still feel a responsibility in attending the Red Cross work-rooms; and, even in the fact of the higher cost of living and low funds after the last Liberty Loan drive, should make a greater effort than ever before to go over the top in the Service Corps quota." The letter reads:

"On February 10th last year, nearly six weeks before the United States declared war, National Red Cross Headquarters advised its chapters to prepare for war. That which has followed, in the record of the Red Cross in helping to win this war and to relieve the suffering growing out of it, must bring to Red Cross workers a deep sense of gratitude for their share in it all.

"But even with peace, let no one suppose that the work of the Red Cross is finished. Millions of American boys are still under arms. Thousands of them are sick or wounded. Owing to the shortage of shipping, it may take a year or more to bring our boys home from France. But, whatever the time, our protecting arms must be about them and their families over the whole period which must elapse before the normal life of peace can be resumed.

"Our soldiers and sailors are enlisted until the Commander-in-Chief tells them there is no more work for them to do in the war. Let every Red Cross member and worker show our returning soldiers and sailors that to care for their health, welfare and happiness, we are enlisted with them to the end.

"The cessation of war reveals a picture of misery such as the world has never seen before, especially in the many countries which can not help themselves. The American people will expect the Red Cross to continue to act as their agent in repairing broken spirits and broken bodies. Peace terms and peace conditions will determine how we may best minister to the vast stricken areas which have been harrowed by war, and in this great act of mercy the heart and spirit of the American people must continue to be mobilized through the American Red Cross.

"On behalf of the Red Cross War Council we accordingly ask each member of our splendid body of workers throughout the land to bear in mind the solemn obligation which rests upon each one to CARRY ON. We cannot bate one instant in our efforts or in our spirit. There will be an abundance of work to do, and specific advices will be given, but even at the moment of peace let no Red Cross worker falter.

"Our spirits must now call us to show that it is not the roar of cannon or the blood of our own alone that directs our activities, but that a great people will continue to respond greatly and freely to its obligation and opportunity to serve mankind.

"The War Council, American Red Cross."

Lieutenant Robt. Nichols Speaks

Give your gladness to earth's keeping,
So be glad when you are sleeping."
"Bobby Graves" Thoroughly Sociable

"Bobby Graves," Mr. Nichols characterized as a more sociable poet, "a very perfect artist in a limited gamut." The chief influence on him are Christina Rossetti, Keats, Blake, and John Skelton. Mr. Nichols read "The Jolly Yellow Moon," "Free Verses," a satire on academic extravaganzas; "The Shadow of Death," "The Dead Foxhunter," "Careers" and "The Escape." The last is an account of the poet's experiences when severely wounded and pronounced by the physicians about to die:

"Life, Life! I can't be dead, I won't be dead:
Damned if I'll die for anyone," I said . . .
Cerberus stands and grins above me now,
Wearing three heads, lion and lynx and sow.
* * * * *
Then swiftly Cerberus' wide mouths I cram
With Army biscuit smeared with Ticker's Jam:
And Sleep lurks in the luscious plum and apple."

Sassoon Deeply Embittered

A man who does not write as well, but takes bigger subjects, is Siegfried Sassoon. Sassoon, Mr. Nichols said, has suffered more than any of the poets. "Blighers," "Died of Wounds," "The Hero," "Does It Matter," "Suicide in the Trenches," "To Any Dead Officer," and several poems which will appear in a new volume, Counterattack, were among those which Mr. Nichols read to illustrate his unrelieved bitterness. "Death's Brotherhood," Mr. Nichols explained, shows the inevitable feeling of the returned soldier that England is no place for him:

"When I'm asleep, dreaming and drowsed and warm—
They come, the homeless ones, the noiseless dead . . .
* * * * *

And while the dawn begins with slashing rain
I think of the Battalion in the mud.
When are you going out to them again?
Are they not still your brothers through our blood?"

Of his own poems, Mr. Nichols read from proof "The Wilderness," which is shortly to appear in The Century; "The Plight of a Humble Servant," "By the Brook," and a poem from his book now in press, Songs of the Enigma.

Mr. Nichols whole purpose, he said before the lecture, was to counteract the attempts of some factions in England who were trying to discredit Herbert Brooke and other young poets.

PRAGMATISM THE KEYSTONE OF
NEW FRANCE, SAYS DR. CAZAMIEU

New Vigor Evident in National Life

Dr. Cazamieu, lieutenant in the French Army and member of the French Educational Mission, spoke in Taylor last Thursday on the future of France, as it may be inferred from the spirit of rejuvenation seen in every side of French life.

The pragmatist tendency, Dr. Cazamieu declared, is typical of the New France. The nationalist spirit that has come to the front in French politics, the transformation of industry by centralization and by the introduction of American methods, the tendency of young Frenchmen to go into business rather than administration, all point to the overthrow of the old dogmatic nationalism. "The purifying gust of war," concluded Dr. Cazamieu, "has blown away the older atmosphere of the end of the last century, leaving an intellectualism of the saner and healthier sort."

GRADUATES BEAT SCRUB-VARSITY

A fumbling game between the Graduates and Scrub-Varsity last Saturday was won by the Graduates by a score of 2-1. P. Branson '16 starred in the Graduate defense against the wild hitting of Scrub-Varsity.

The first goal was made by C. Bickley '21, followed shortly by one for the Graduates. In spite of the swiftness of the first half. In spite of the swiftness of the Graduate forward line the score remained a tie at the end of the first half. In the second half Scrub-Varsity played with out a right inside. The Graduates shot a second goal, making the final score 2-1.

COMMUNITY CENTER DRAWS 60
VOLUNTEERSMiss Applebee to Give Class in Gym
Methods

Sixty volunteers from college, a few more than last year, have registered for work at the Community Center. In addition to these three graduate students are doing practice work. Besides the usual clubs and classes new ones have been instituted, including a normal class in gym methods, to be given by Miss Applebee.

The gym class will be held for 38 Community Center workers. An hour a week will be spent in the gym, and an hour in practical application of the methods at the Center.

Miss Compton, a trained gymnasium teacher. Playground and kindergarten worker, is a new worker among the children. Two kindergarten classes have started.

An Americanization Committee has been formed to study the needs of the foreign groups. Two French classes have begun. Instruction for Italian women in their homes has been started by Miss Davies.

Big Room Fixed for Gym

The big room at the Center has been fixed as a gymnasium, for which $50 was given by Shipley School. Basketball games will be scheduled.

Volunteers to superintend games for boys from 11 to 14 are needed every evening from 7 to 9.

A noon rest-hour for workers in the village is held every day at the Milestone. A luncheon will be given there on December 2d for the Noon Hour Rest Club.

Four Competitors Left

A cut has been made in the News competition for an editor from 1921. Those still in the competition are: V. Evans, F. Hollingshead, N. Porter, and F. Riker.

TREMENDOUS INCREASE IN WAR ACTIVITIES UNDER CONSCRIPTION

Red Cross Output Boosted

The effect of conscription upon the organized branches of college war work, especially that of the Red Cross Committee, has been to increase their efficiency nearly 100 per cent.

Last year, up to Thanksgiving, the Red Cross workroom, open only in the evening and not on Saturday, averaged an attendance of 18 workers per day. This year the room, open afternoons, evenings, and Saturdays, shows attendance of 35 per day. During the six weeks before Thanksgiving last year the total number of workers was 568, compared with 732, who have come during the four weeks of Red Cross work this semester.

The impetus which conscription has given to knitting machine work resulted in the instalment of two new machines. Six workers can be accommodated every evening, as contrasted with the two per evening of last year, and the output, in spite of some irregularity of attendance, has been correspondingly great. Knitting sweaters, and other hand-knitting, which cannot be counted for conscription, has suffered.

Under conscription 110 workers signed up this fall for work at the Community Center, as contrasted with the 50 or 60 who volunteered last year. Of this 110 pledging work, 40 have withdrawn since conscription has been abolished.

The Junk and War Salvage Committee owes to conscription more regular collections, according to a statement by B. Warburg, chairman. The number of workers on the committee is the same as last year.

For the first time, under conscription, undergraduates have done typewriting and filing for the Department of Social Research. The typewriting has been done chiefly on government work in connection with an investigation of married women in industry which the department is carrying on.

Several war courses have been part of the conscription program. Seventy students have attended a class in typewriting, and others courses in Social Betterment and Civilian Relief, and Record Keeping.

HIKE TO VALLEY FORGE FRIDAY

A hike from Devon to Valley Forge and back, open to anyone on the campus, is being planned for the day after Thanksgiving. Anyone who wants to go is asked to give her name to Miss Hibbard, Denbigh. The party will leave Bryn Mawr for Devon on the 9.41 train, everyone providing her own lunch.

Jumping Rope Suggested for Exercise

A Sophomore has requested that jumping rope for 30 minutes before breakfast be counted as a period of exercise. She says she has gained 17 lbs. since she came to college this fall and none of the present forms of exercise help her to reduce. It has been suggested that this could be signed up Ph.R., "Physical Reductionment"!

French Girls Want to Correspond

Forty French girls in Bordeaux, members of the World's Student Christian Federation, want to correspond with American girls. Anyone who wishes to write to them is asked to sign a slip posted on the C. A. bulletin board.

Ignatz and others of classic profile, the slackers, moral, intellectual, physical, and aesthetic, had their little day and passed on, leaving the four fittest survivors to undergo inspection by the visitors from Mars on Commencement Day, 1922.

The appearance of the statues, particularly that of A. Thorndike, as Yuno, was exceedingly true to art. Of the slackers, the moral defaulters were the most convincing. As pay-day collector, C. Hollis registered local hits against the classes. C. Skinner Recites

Later in the evening, at the request of the Seniors, C. Skinner '22 recited the Highwayman by Alfred Noyes, and the Sleepwalking Scene from Macbeth with unusual talent and dramatic expression. Before and after the stunt there was dancing to the music of the Senior Orchestra.

The committee for the stunt was E. Marquand, F. Allison, M. Butler, J. Holmes, F. Howell, M. L. Thurman (ex-officio).

UNDERGRADUATES WANT DATES OF CHRISTMAS VACATION CHANGED

Plan Involves No Loss of Academic Work

A movement to change the dates of the Christmas vacation in order to avoid the necessity of coming back on a Friday was launched at a meeting of the Undergraduate Association last week. It was suggested that the vacation should extend from Friday, December 20th, to Monday, January 6th, instead of from December 19th to January 3d as the dates now stand. This plan would give an extra week-end without the loss of any academic work.

D. Chambers '19, L. Wood '19, and M. Carey '20 have been appointed by the Undergraduate Board to discuss with President Thomas the possibility of such a change.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Dr. Leuba spoke in chapel last Friday morning on Proportional Representation. He referred the students to the Proportional Representation League, Franklin National Bank Building, Philadelphia, for details on the progress of the movement in this country.

Dr. Shaller Matthews, of Chicago University, will conduct chapel the Sunday after Thanksgiving.

Francesca Moffatt ex-'21 is confidential secretary to Major D. M. Johnson, U. S. A., in New York. In the mornings she attends business school.

Cross in Chicago.

Graduate students shall be invited to take part in Varsity Dramatics, it was voted at a meeting of the Undergraduate Association last week.

About $150 was raised through Mr. Nichols' lecture for the Service Corps.

Countess Marie Locchi, Italian envoy, visited the campus Saturday afternoon. She is in America studying vocational training and the industrial conditions of women and has inspected various industrial plants throughout this country.

Mite boxes will be given out after Thanksgiving for contributions to the Varsity Service Corps Fund.

C. A. Extends Membership to Faculty

The Faculty will be canvassed for membership in the Christian Association after Thanksgiving. Pledge cards will be sent to the new members and to the alumnae. The pledges announced last week were from the undergraduates only.

No Excuses for Cuts Taken to Consult Specialists

Students cutting their classes to consult specialists in Philadelphia cannot get excuses, the Health Department announces. Instead, the cuts will come under the category of "Hall Illness," i. e., cuts not excused, but to a certain extent legitimate because necessitated by sudden illness.
